Join a Firm Where Your Work Matters

Taylor & Mulder, Inc. is a fast-growing property & casualty actuarial consulting firm offering services to a wide array of public and private sector clients. We are seeking actuaries with property & casualty experience to work with a tight-knit team on often cutting-edge actuarial issues.

WHAT YOU'LL DO

- Evaluate a wide range of types of actuarial models – for instance, pricing, ratemaking, reserving/loss triangles, and rating predictive models contained in rate filings for many different coverage types.
- Highly varied work product includes:
  - Reviewing complex statistical models, rating plans, and rules, rates and relativities in rate filings
  - Reserving and Pricing analyses
  - Financial examinations
  - Self-insurance studies
  - Expert witness testimony
  - Ad Hoc analyses across a wide spectrum of projects.

WHAT WE'RE LOOKING FOR

REQUIRED

- FCAS or ACAS designation
- Advanced writing and communication skills
- Natural curiosity about work, and initiative to find unique solutions to actuarial problems
- Strong Excel and Word skills
- Conversant with statistical concepts and basic GLMs, and at least a moderate knowledge of statistical modeling in general.

PREFERRED

- Familiarity with predictive modeling concepts such as random forests, k-means, and neural networks is a plus, along with interest and willingness to learn and do research when needed to understand the workings of an unfamiliar model
- CSPA designation is a very strong plus
- Advanced knowledge and experience in R/Python and/or other programming languages
- Experience with a wide variety of lines of business and types of analyses
- Interest in business development and building client relationships
